Technical bits...

- All door and sidelights to be connected with a 20mm coupler.

- Contemporary doors with bar handles are always fitted on the opposite side to the glass detail, unless the glass is centrally positioned – then it will be positioned on the opposite side to the hinges.
- Composite sidelights are restricted to a minimum and maximum frame widths:-

Frame Profile	Minimum	Maximum
Eurocell (Chamfered)	454mm	458mm
Liniar (Sculptured)	438mm	442mm

- When ordering the threshold detail, please note that whatever is called up for the door will also follow on the sidelight ensuring that everything lines through.
- The sidelight slabs when delivered will be supplied in the frame and temporarily held into the frame in reverse. This is to allow fitting of the frame and then the slab can then be clipped in the correct way around. The clip system is similar to that sometimes used on dummy sashes and a special release tool part number X0049 at £6.00 each can be ordered should you need to remove the slab at any time.
- Letter plates cannot be fitted into sidelight slabs as they are too narrow, also they cannot be fitted into certain Contemporary Esprit styles – C04; C07; C16 & C12. In these situations it is recommended that the homeowner has an external wall mounted post box fitted.
- The Eclat Craftsman slab design has now been withdrawn.
- There is now a choice of four locking systems, standard; Autofire (AV2) standard; Autofire (AV2) high level & Wind Key.
